Brooklyn Methodist Church

Weekly Bulletin 14 August 2011

Dear Friends,

The following excerpt from Matt Redman's book, 'The Unquenchable Worshipper' was particularly profound in terms of my reading for this week's sermon, and I wanted to share it all of you:

At the end of Exodus 34, Moses comes down from Mount Sinai after a powerful encounter with the living God. He's been ushered into an incredible level of revelation; so deep into the heart of God's glory that his face is actually shining. So radiant, in fact, that the people were afraid even to look at him. From that time on Moses wore a veil to cover up his face. But 'Whenever he entered the Lord's presence to speak with Him, he removed the veil until he came out.' v.34. When he went to meet with God, nothing, not even a layer of cloth, would be allowed to hinder his gaze upon God. That passage gives us insight into two things: the deep revelation of God, and the change it brings to those who experience it. And the greater the revelation, the greater the transformation. Unveiled in his worship and given incredible access to the presence of God, Moses also became a changed worshipper, glowing with the glory of God. The New Testament has amazing news for us – we too can be unveiled worshippers. 'And we, who with unveiled faces all reflect the Lord's glory, are being transformed into His likeness with ever increasing glory, which comes from the Lord, who is the Spirit.' 2 Corinthians 3:18. God has invited us into an incredibly privileged place in worship. In one sense, the Almighty need not reveal Himself to anyone. He is a consuming fire, blazing with power and holiness. And yet He burns with a heart of love for His people, longing to usher each one of us into deeper levels of glory. It's there we are transformed ever more into His likeness. As someone once put it: "Beholding is Becoming..." Matt Redman

Let us strive to becoming worshippers that worship God without hiding behind any tradition, pride, excuse or apathy! God wants ALL of us...

Be blessed,
Taiki
